

Johari Window

If you are looking to create a culture of openness in your organisation, the Johari Window is a great tool to begin with. Put together by Joseph Luft and Harry Ingham, this tool helps individuals discover their state of awareness from within and without. It then provides practical principles to help them move into achieving greater openness among a team i.e. expanding the “Public” quadrant.

